U.N. Personnel To Be Admitted For Relief Talks

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 13 (AP)—Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld disclosed tonight he has approached Communist Hungarian authorities on the possibility of his personally shepherding U. N. relief supplies into war-torn Budapest.

Hammarskjöld, who delayed a Middle East trip for 24 hours to concentrate on rushing U.N. supplies and representatives to Hungary, talked with Hungarian Foreign Minister Imre Horvath.

A U.N. spokesman said Hammarskjöld offered to go personally to Budapest to get the U.N. relief program in motion. The spokesman said Hammarskjöld hoped to see Horvath again, apparently to find out what answer he has received from his home government.

Observers Banned

Hungary last night rejected an Assembly move to send observers into that country but left the way open for relief supplies.

The Hungarian agreement to accept U.N. relief representatives was accompanied by a long list of foodstuffs and medical supplies urgently needed.

On the political front, the U.N. moved to help Hungary. The U.N. Assembly's steering committee voted 11-2 to recommend a priority status for the Hungarian item in the Assembly despite a blunt warning from the Soviet Union that debate here would only complicate efforts to restore peace in Hungary.

Russia, Czechs Oppose

The Soviet Union and Czechoslovakia opposed this move. Egypt abstained. The committee can only recommend consideration of an item and its decision must be ratified by the full 79-nation Assembly.

The Soviet bloc repeated its opposition in the Assembly but the delegates overrode the objections and put the Hungarian item on the Assembly agenda, 92-9. Eight countries abstained — Afghanistan, Egypt, Morocco, Saudi Arabia, Sudan, Syria, Yemen and Yugoslavia. The delegates then voted 51-0, with 19 abstentions, to take up the Hungarian issue directly in the Assembly whenever necessary without sending it to the political committee.

The Assembly, without objection, also approved putting the Middle East issue on its agenda for direct action when necessary.

Arab Leaders Meet For Hour

BEIRUT, Lebanon, Nov. 13 (AP)—The nine-nation Arab summit conference opened today with a one-hour meeting of chiefs of state.

The only absentee was President Gamal Abdel Nasser of Egypt, who remained in Cairo to cope with the occupation of his country by Israeli and British — French forces. He was represented by his ambassador to Lebanon in this first meeting of Arab chiefs of state in 10 years.

A conference source said the agenda includes four main points:

1. Financial aid to Jordan in the event Britain cuts off its military subsidy.
2. Withdrawal of Iraq from the Baghdad Pact alliance (composed of Britain, Iraq, Iran, Turkey and Pakistan).
3. Designation of Lebanon as negotiator to bridge disputes between the West and Middle East.
4. Financial and military aid to Egypt.

"Erase Israel" Appeal

BAGHDAD, Iraq, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Iraqi government said today peace cannot be secured in the Middle East unless Israel is wiped out.

An official announcement "appealed to all nations to remove Israel from the Middle East for the sake of security and peace."

"Long-Term" Policy Needed, Johnson Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, discussing American foreign policy, said today "the real question is where we go from here."

The Senate's Democratic leader added that "apparently we are still searching for a long-term policy and we will not be able to breathe easily until it is found."

He told Capitol Hill news conference he considers the use of U.N. police forces in Egypt as only a temporary expedient to prevent the outbreak of large-scale war.

NATO "Best Method"

Concerning the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, he said: "NATO remains the best method by which the free nations of the North Atlantic community can unite for their common defense while maintaining their independence."

From the mood of his colleagues, he went on, he expects the Democratic majority in the new Senate will cooperate with the Eisenhower administration and "seek to solve problems rather than create them."

Morse Optimistic

Sen. Morse (D-Ore.), who has opposed some aspects of the administration's foreign policy in the past, told reporters today he is more optimistic than ever before about achieving "a truly bipartisan foreign policy." He said he intends to help work one out.

Morse is a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which received a secret briefing on international affairs yesterday from administration leaders.

Johnson leaves shortly to attend NATO's parliamentary conference in Paris.

Mentalist's Eisenhower Vote Prediction Correct

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 (AP)—A mentalist won a $5,000 bet that he could forecast to the last digit the number of votes cast for President Eisenhower in the nation, California and Los Angeles County, the County Board of Supervisors said today.

Jack Swimmer on Oct. 10 posted a $5,000 check with the board and wrote his predictions on a piece of paper. The agreement was that if he lost the $5,000 would go to charity.

Today Gordon Nesvig, clerk of the board, unlocked a small wooden box, took from it a small brass container, unlocked that, and took out Swimmer's predictions.

High Court Bans Bus Segregation

Sheppard Denied Trial Review

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Supreme Court today wiped out state and local laws requiring segregation on buses.

It did so by affirming a decision of a special three-judge U. S. district court in Montgomery, Ala. That court ruled that enforced segregation of whites and Negroes on Montgomery buses violated the Federal Constitution's guarantees of due process and equal protection of law.

Court Bars Aid Suit By Gov. Lee

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Supreme Court today denied Gov. J. Bracken Lee of Utah permission to file suit attacking constitutionality of the U.S. foreign aid program.

The proposed suit also asked the high tribunal to enjoin Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey from using funds for foreign aid.

In his plea to the court for permission to file the suit, Lee said: "Congress under the constitution has no power to collect and expend taxes for such purposes. Enforcement of federal tax laws within Utah is causing not merely a violation of the rights of Utah citizens in their capacity as U.S. citizens but financial damage to the state itself."

Lee, a Republican, sought reelection as an independent in last week's election but lost to Republican George D. Clyde. His term expires in January.

Poland Donates Most For Aid Of Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., Nov. 13 (AP)—Poland reported to the U.N. today the largest cash donation thus far for the aid of Hungary—two million dollars.

The U.N. listed a million dollars from the United States for aid to Hungarian refugees. In all, nine nations offered a total of $3,762,500, plus food and other items.

The report said eight nations have agreed to accept 20,500 Hungarian refugees and three others have invited an indefinite number.

High Court Bans Bus Segregation

Sheppard Denied Trial Review

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Supreme Court today wiped out state and local laws requiring segregation on buses.

It did so by affirming a decision of a special three-judge U. S. district court in Montgomery, Ala. That court ruled that enforced segregation of whites and Negroes on Montgomery buses violated the Federal Constitution's guarantees of due process and equal protection of law.

In a brief unanimous order, the Supreme Court cited its 1954 decision against segregation in public schools. It also cited subsequent decisions outlawing segregation in public parks and playgrounds and in public golf links.

As it has done in several segregation cases since its basic school decision, the high court acted without listening to any argument. Except for citing three segregation-banning decisions, all the court said was:

"The motion to affirm is granted and the judgment is affirmed."

This affirmation left no doubt that the Supreme Court is outlawing segregation on all bus systems. Earlier this year some question had arisen when the court simply dismissed an appeal from another decision overturning a South Carolina segregation law. That left the decision in effect but led to confusion—ended today—as to the Supreme Court's intent.

Negroes in Montgomery have conducted a long boycott of city buses as a protest against segregation. One of the things they resorted to was operation of a car pool to carry those who used to the buses.

A state court at Montgomery is now considering the city's attempt to halt the car pool as illegal. The court continued its hearing today after being informed of the Supreme Court ruling.

In neighboring Mississippi, Gov. J. P. Coleman said his state would continue to segregate Negroes and whites on public conveyances, despite the Supreme Court order.

In another action today, the court refused to review the trial and conviction of Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath, for the bludgeoning slaying of his wife.

Dr. Sheppard was convicted of slaying his pregnant wife, Marilyn, 30, in their Bay Village, Ohio, home in July 1954. He received a life sentence. This was affirmed by the Ohio Supreme Court last May.

Dr. Sheppard contended he was denied a fair trial because of adverse publicity. The Ohio Supreme Court rejected this claim.

PARIS, Nov. 13 (AP)—Actor Charles Chaplin and his American-born wife, Oona O'Neill, are expecting their sixth child next May, the actor said today.

Asked whether he would prefer a boy or girl, Chaplin, 67, replied laughing:

"We'll be thankful for any little package."

Hungary Uses Strike As Its Last Weapon

Active Resistance Against Russians Virtually Ceases

BUDAPEST, Nov. 13 (AP)—This nation of 10 million turned to an almost complete general strike as a weapon against the Russians today.

The only active resistance in Budapest against Soviet arms was reported on Csepel Island in the Danube. There thousands of workers have turned two factories into armed fortresses.

With their armed revolt almost crushed, workers turned to a weapon long barred in the Communist state—the general strike.

The transport system was crippled. Industries were closed down. Thousands of citizens wandered aimlessly around Budapest streets. Many poked about in the ruins of homes for lost possessions.

Workers Guard Plant Gates

At most industrial plants workers guarded gates to prevent strikebreakers from entering. White collar workers who went to their jobs quit to join the long lines of persons waiting for food, then returned to desks late in the day to check out.

Soviet tanks and guns, at all important intersections, got little attention.

Other Soviet tanks and guns guarded the Parliament building where the Janos Kadar government — installed by Soviet military might — was housed.

Parliament appeared to be the only place where the Kadar regime was master of the situation. Its radioed appeals for workers to return to jobs went unheeded.

Nagy Seen As Only Hope

In government offices national-minded officials expressed the view that Imre Nagy, the former premier displaced by Kadar, was the only man who could solve the present situation.

Nagy and a group of his supporters apparently remained in refuge in the Yugoslav Embassy.

There were reports the Kadar and Nagy groups held talks, but it was believed Nagy would refuse to cooperate with the Soviet-installed rulers.

Judge Orders Bus Boycotters Halt Car Pool

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Nov. 13 (AP)—Circuit Judge Eugene Carter today granted a temporary injunction to stop Montgomery Negroes from using a car pool for transportation during their boycott of city buses.

There were strong indications, however, that the injunction might have little effect in view of today's Supreme Court decision outlawing city bus segregation.

A Negro leader, the Rev. Martin Luther King Jr., predicted the 11-month-old boycott of segregated buses will end at a Negro mass meeting tomorrow night.

Carter granted the temporary restraining order on the grounds the City of Montgomery had presented enough evidence to indicate that the Negroes might be operating a private enterprise although he said that question will have to be determined ultimately or the issue of a permanent injunction.

City attorneys based their request for a temporary injunction primarily on the contention that the car pool is a business being operated without a city franchise or license.

The Negroes insisted that it is purely a voluntary plan operated by Negro churches without cost to the riders.

Eisenhower's Chief Economic Aide Quits

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—Dr. Arthur F. Burns resigned today as chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers—a group that keeps President Eisenhower posted on the economic state of the nation.

The White House announced the resignation, effective Dec. 1. It said Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, one of three members of the council, will become chairman and Dr. Paul W. McCracken, economics professor at the University of Michigan, will be appointed to fill the council vacancy.

Burns turned in his resignation in a letter to the President dated yesterday. He said it was prompted by "personal factors."

Eisenhower accepted in another letter dated yesterday, with "great reluctance" and high praise of Burns.

Soviet-Trained Polish Defense Minister Quits

Rokossovsky Was 'On Leave' Since Oct. 21

WARSAW, Nov. 13 (AP)—Poland's Premier told Parliament today that Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky has resigned as defense minister and deputy premier. The Soviet war hero came to power as chief of Poland's armed forces on Stalin's orders in 1949.

The Warsaw-born, Soviet-trained marshal had long been regarded as Moscow's chief representative in the Polish leadership. He was ousted from the Polish Communist party Politburo on Oct. 21.

Ever since that date he has been officially announced as "on leave." His removal has been expected.

Premier Josef Cyrankiewicz said Gen. Marian Spychalsky had been appointed in Rokossovsky's place. Reinstated After Purge Spychalsky was arrested while Stalin was still alive in 1950. He suffered much the same fate as Wladislaw Gomulka, now first secretary of the Polish Communist party's Central Committee.

Spychalsky was released early this year. On Oct. 23 he was made deputy defense minister.

The ouster of Rokossovsky from the crucial defense post and the naming of Spychalsky were logical developments in the shakeup that has submerged Stalinist elements in Poland and loosened the country's ties with Moscow.

The parliamentary session at which the announcement on Rokossovsky was made was televised to, the first time in Poland's history.

Pro-Soviet Leader Rapped

The Polish Communist leadership also struck back sharply at one pro-Soviet Polish Communist leader.

The Communist paper Trybuna Ludu announced the Polish Politburo had demanded the expulsion from the Communist party Central Committee of trade union chief Wiktor Kosiowicz for attempting to "stir up new unrest" with a provocative question in Parliament last Friday.

Kosiowicz had asked the government to say whether it was true that pro-Stalin elements had planned a military putsch during the political crisis in Poland last month. He said he had been slandered by accusations of participation in such a putsch.

The exact site of the Eisenhower-Nehru talks has not been decided yet, Mehta said, but will be agreed upon within the next few days.

This raised the prospect Eisenhower would meet Nehru either at his Gettysburg farm or at Camp David, the presidential mountain retreat in nearby Maryland.

CARACAS, Venezuela, Nov. 13 (AP)—A concrete bridge under construction in downtown Caracas collapsed late today, crushing about 40 workers under tons of debris.

Five bodies were removed from the wreckage and search continued for others.

U.S. Shrimp War Casualty Taken To Mexico Hospital

TAMPICO, Mexico, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Pescadora was not under military detention. However, several soldiers guarded it at docksides.

The shooting was reported to have occurred at 10:30 Monday about 80 miles north of here.

A crew member of the Mexican cutter gave this version:

Five foreign fishing boats, all apparently from Texas, were sighted yesterday afternoon fishing in Mexican waters. They were warned they were too close to shore.

Later the cutter saw another group of shrimpers, among them the Pescadora. The order was repeated but the Pescadora did not reply.

The cutter then tried to seize the Pescadora but it fled. A chase of several hours followed.

The cutter fired during the chase.

Snags Delay Entry Of U.N. Police Force

Egyptians Insist Operation Of Peace Patrol Be Limited

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP)—A team of 12 U. N. truce observers with white jeeps took up posts in the 600-yard wide no-man's-land in the Suez Canal zone today. They will keep tabs on the cease-fire between British-French and Egyptian forces pending arrival of the new U. N. police force.

Advance units of the police army still marked time at their assembly point at Capodichino in Italy. Postponement of their departure was officially ascribed to technical difficulties, but there remained the possibility that snags had developed over limits Egypt has placed on their operations.

Reports from airline officials in Cairo said there was a possibility the U. N. troops would be flown directly into the Suez Canal zone instead of to Cairo as had been planned.

Patrol Areas Unsettled

A French Foreign Ministry spokesman served notice that France expected the police force to occupy "at least symbolically" the entire canal zone, not just the northern end held by the British and French.

He said France was "confident" U. N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld would insist on enforcing all U. N. General Assembly decisions, and that these included the reopening of the blocked canal and liberty of passage for ships of all nations.

"By the account of the Middle East News Agency, Egypt's national news distributor, President Nasser insists that the international army have no duties in the Suez Canal zone, that British-French forces withdraw from Port Said immediately, and that the U. N. force be confined to policing the 1949 armistice line between Egypt and Israel.

British Press Aroused

These conditions ran head-on into the stated objectives of the British, French and Israelis.

The British press called the Egyptian conditions "impossible." Some papers said President Nasser was trying to dictate terms as though he had won a war.

Canada's Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, commander of the new force, said at Rome there were many "outstandingly important problems" relating to his new task to be sorted out. He thought some would require "long high-level diplomatic negotiations."

Navy Finds New 'Bugs' In A-Sub

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Navy gave a guarded indication today that it is having further trouble with the atomic reactor for its second nuclear-powered submarine, the Seawolf.

A spokesman said some "bugs" have been found in the power system in addition to troubles reported in September with the vessel's steam superheating equipment.

The Navy was known to be working on a statement explaining the problems involved in achieving success with the sodium reactor in the Seawolf.

The nuclear furnace installed in the Seawolf is quite different from that which has proven so successful in the Nautilus, the world's first atomic-powered vessel.

Water is used in the Nautilus to transfer heat generated by the atomic furnace to a steam turbine, which in turn provides the power to turn the propellers. In the Seawolf reactor, sodium, a liquid metal, is used as the heat transfer agent.

Informed sources said the sodium reactor, theoretically a more efficient means of transferring heat, has in practice created chemical reactions in the complex piping system. The earlier superheating trouble is still being worked on, these sources said, in the hope of gaining additional power and speed for the Seawolf.

West Would Destroy Russia If Attacked, Gruenther Declares

PARIS, Nov. 13 (AP)—Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, retiring Allied supreme commander in Europe, today warned Russia that an attack on the West would mean her own destruction.

"The soldier's stiff warning—apparently the last of his military career—brought a sigh of relief from weary French diplomats who have been eyeing nervously Russia's threats to enter the Middle East crisis."

Gruenther made the statement at a farewell news conference at his Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe near Paris. He will give up his command Nov. 20 to become president of the American Red Cross.

He said that no rockets could destroy the Atlantic alliance to prevent its immediate retaliation.

that would destroy the Soviet Union.

This was clearly a reference to Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's statement to Britain and France last week. Bulganin warned that "a bigger power" might enter the Egyptian crisis, using "rockets."

Answering what he termed "threats of blackmail," Gruenther said that "retaliation will take place as day follows night and the Soviet Union will be destroyed."

He said he doubts, however, that such an eventuality would arise because "no nation is going to press that (rocket) button if it means suicide, and it does mean just that."

Gruenther expressed some doubt about Soviet rockets, adding "they exist."

'College' Steers Win Top Honors

TIMONIUM, Md., Nov. 13 (AP)—Two steers who had been to college received graduate honors today, the rosettes signifying their choice as the best beef on the hoof at the Eastern National Livestock Show.

Tomorrow, they must pay the price of honor. They will be sold at auction, along with other fat cattle entered in the steer show.

It will be but a short trip from auction block to chopping block.

Both animals were exhibited by Pennsylvania State University. A 1,125-pound Aberdeen-Angus was selected "grand champion steer of the show." The reserve grand champion was a 950-pound Short horn.

Judging from prices bid at past auctions, the champ will make between $2,000 and $5,500 for the university at tomorrow's auction.

Last year's grand champion steer brought $1.85 a pound. The record price, paid two years ago, was $5 a pound.

The selection of the grand champion steer was the highlight of the fourth day of the 9th annual show.

Texas Civil War Vet Is 114 Today

FRANKLIN, Tex., Nov. 13 (AP)—Walter W. Williams, oldest soldier to survive the Civil War, will quietly observe his 114th birthday anniversary tomorrow at his farm home near here.

Williams, who served as a forage master with Hood's Texas brigade, is one of three surviving veterans of the Civil War, all Confederates.

The other two are John Salling, 110, Slant, Va., and William A. Lundy, 109, Laurel Hill, Fla.

British Troops End Mau Mau Operations

LONDON, Nov. 13 (AP)—Britain announced today all her troops are being withdrawn from operations against Mau Mau rebels in the east African colony of Kenya.

Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd told the House of Commons of the decision. He said Mau Mau resistance has been almost completely overcome and local police are assuming full responsibility for maintaining order.

"Shadows are now lifting after four years of brutal challenge," he said.

The secretary said there were more than 8,000 "active terrorists" in Kenya in 1954, harassing settlers and killing and kidnapping many Africans, while "now the remnants of Mau Mau still at large number only a few hundreds."

Johnson Backs Sen. Mansfield As Demo 'Whip'

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—A move among Democratic senators to install Sen. Mansfield of Montana as their new "whip" won public support today from Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas.

The endorsement of Mansfield by Johnson, the Senate Democratic leader, seemed to pretty well assure the Montanan of getting the No. 2 party post when the chamber convenes in January.

As Johnson noted in stating his position at a news conference, there was no sign of opposition to Mansfield.

The whip is the leader's right hand man, working mostly behind the scenes to line up votes on pending bills but also pinch hitting in the top spot when the leader is absent.

Mansfield would succeed Sen. Clements of Kentucky, who was defeated for re-election by Republican Thurston Morton.

Clements hasn't said what his plans are but Johnson announced he has invited him to become executive chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee. This group works for the election of Democratic Senate candidates.

Maryland Woman Slain Near Richmond

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 13 (AP)—A woman found slain beside a Hanover County road near Richmond Sunday was identified today as Edith Worley Lewis, 46, of Riverdale, Md.

The State Medical Examiner's office received a fingerprint identification through the FBI. Chief Medical Examiner Geoffrey T. Mann said the woman's prints were in the FBI civilian file because she had once applied for a government position.

He said the woman had been strangled by hand and had received a severe blow behind the right ear. Death occurred sometime between Friday night and Saturday night.

12 Families Evacuated As Gas Tanks Burn

MAYSVILLE, Ky., Nov. 13 (AP)—Four gasoline tanks, each with 12,000 gallon capacity, exploded at a Texaco bulk plant, setting off a fire that raged out of control for six hours early today.

Twelve families were evacuated from nearby homes when a river of burning gasoline and oil rushed from the plant.

The fire was brought under control at 6 a.m. after some of the flames reached a ball park across the street, setting the bleachers afire.

Salk Sees Polio End In '57 If All Under 50 Take Shots

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 13 (AP)—Dr. Jonas E. Salk today recommended that adults up to age 50 take shots of Salk polio vaccine.

If they do, and if all children are vaccinated, then 1957 could be the first year of complete or nearly complete freedom from paralysis by polio, the Pittsburgh scientist predicted.

He said this goal can be won only if each person takes responsibility to have shots himself and get them for children and relatives.

Polio is striking hard at adults now, he warned, and one-fourth of all cases occur among persons aged 20 to 50.

Speaking to the American Public Health Service, Dr. Salk presented these highlights of a report on the present status of the vaccine:

Discovery of a self-perpetuating strain of monkey heart cells may eliminate the need to import thousands of monkeys, each year from India. This strain of heart cells grows continuously, and promises to supply enough material to grow all the virus needed for vaccine productions, and for testing it for safety.

Potency of the vaccine has been increased, and made more uniform. Children vaccinated in the 1954 field trials should be reinoculated if not already done, because much of that vaccine was weak, and shots were given too closely together. New shots probably should be given to any children who had three shots within five weeks time, or got the first two shots within less than two weeks, or who received a third shot less than seven months after the second dose.

Mrs. Luce U.S.-Bound

ROME, Nov. 13 (AP)—U. S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce left today by plane for consultations with State Department officials in Washington. She conferred with Premier Antonio Segni shortly before departing.

The former West German intelligence chief testified that he agreed to become a Communist showpiece only to escape brainwashing with which, he said, the Russians would have extracted real secrets from him.

"I'm not a coward, but in this situation I could not do anything else," he said.

"I succeeded in retaining the real secrets," he told the Federal Supreme Court trying him on multiple charges of treason. "I agreed to cooperate only to prevent them from robbing me of my free will through injections."

Combined efforts by the court and prosecution failed to shake John in his claim that he was drugged and abducted into East Berlin July 20, 1954 and that he was under coercion until his return to the West last December.

Since the trial opened yesterday, John, 47, has testified for almost nine hours.

His general line of defense was that either the Russians distorted his statements or that he gave away information which was generally known.

Controversial Report Handed Baptist Meeting

ATLANTA, Nov. 13 (AP)—A Baptist commission in a report which it acknowledged was controversial tonight proposed that the U. S. Supreme Court decree against racial segregation in education be accepted as the law of the land.

The report will come up for consideration and action tomorrow by the Georgia Baptist Convention, the social service commission of which drafted and released it. Sharp debate was in prospect.

The commission findings, which were not unanimous, also suggested support of such organizations as the Georgia Council on Human Relations, formerly the Georgia Committee on Interracial Co-operation.

This group is directed by Dr. Guy H. Wells, former president of the State College of Women at Milledgeville whose bi-racial views prompted the State Board of Education to consider an attempt to void his state pension. The proposal was dropped on the grounds that Wells had earned the pension and it could not be taken away from him.

The church commission of four members, only three of which participated in its report, recognized differences of opinion on the issue and said it received conflicting advice on what stand it should take.

Dysentery Strikes Family; One Dead, 10 Hospitalized

BALTIMORE, Nov. 13 (AP)—The disease that rampaged through a family killing one child and hospitalizing his 10 brothers and sisters was diagnosed today as a form of dysentery.

Dr. Walter Koppleman, who made the tentative diagnosis, said the disease is treated as contagious and that its victims should be isolated.

Rickey Brown, who would have been four years old next month, died yesterday from the intestinal disease. A brother, two-year-old Darrell, was critically ill. The other seven children were still hospitalized reported showing improvement.

Darrell became sick last Friday. His mother took him to University Hospital where he was treated for an intestinal disorder and sent home.

Yesterday Rickey became sick and Darrell took a turn for the worse.

Both were rushed to the hospital. Rickey was dead. Then the nine other members of the Negro family became ill, and Mrs. Brown took all of them to the hospital. Dr. Koppleman said there would be no definite diagnosis made before Thursday or Friday, when the results of bacteriological tests will be known.

Mrs. Brown had no idea what the children might have eaten to make them ill. She said the last thing she remembered they ate Sunday night was crackers and cheese.

MENTALIST PREDICTED IKE'S VOTE — Jack Swimmer, who bills himself as a mentalist, holds up a sheet of paper in Los Angeles listing his predictions made on Oct. 10 of President Eisenhower's popular vote totals in the nation, in California and in Los Angeles County. He has posted a $5,000 check with the county board of supervisors to make good his boast. The predicted totals, when removed from a sealed box yesterday, corresponded exactly with figures compiled by the Associated Press and carried in morning newspapers of Nov. 9. (AP Photofax)

West Virginia's Bad Forest Fire Situation Eases

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 13 (AP)—West Virginia's dangerous forest fire situation eased somewhat today when high winds died down. A prediction of high winds for tomorrow however, brought a note of concern from Conservation Department officials.

"The way things are starting, we could have a repetition of 'The Big Burn' in 1953 when one-third of a million acres of woodlands were destroyed by flames," Acting State Forester Lester McClung said today.

Most of the record number of 86 fires reported yesterday have either been cleaned up, brought under control or put out by crews who worked throughout the night, McClung said.

"Yesterday's number of fires was more than we had in any single day in 1953," McClung said. Ten new blazes were reported today in Southern West Virginia. They include 2 in Mingo County, 2 in Boone and Raleigh and 1 in Wayne, Lincoln and Fayette.

Doctors Delay Surgery On Eye Of Little Girl

BOSTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—Doctors today postponed for 24 hours surgery on the cancerous right eye of three-year old Carol Ann Molinaro of East Boston because the youngster has a slight cold.

The operation, at the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary, is deemed necessary so the child's left eye may not become affected by the malignant disease.

Carol Ann is unaware of her ailment. She thinks she went to the hospital just because of the cold.

She probably will have to spend six to 10 days in the hospital with her eyes heavily bandaged before she can go home.

It will be weeks more, probably, before doctors will know if her left eye has been saved.

Neighbors of the little girl have raised more than $1,000 to help defray expenses.

"Kickback" Charge Dismissal Sought

WESTON, W. Va., Nov. 13 (AP)—Defense counsel today requested Lewis County Circuit Court to quash the indictment against Henry J. McKinley for unlawfully soliciting contributions at Weston State Hospital where he is business manager.

Judge J. Dowell Jennings set the hearing for Thursday.

McKinley was indicted Nov. 9 on the charge following his arrest last month. He has been free under $500 bond since then.

McKinley was arrested on a warrant made on information from Doris S. Dodson, secretary of the West Virginia Public Employees Council. She was one of seven former hospital employees who signed affidavits that they either quit or were fired for refusing to pay a percentage of their salaries for contributions.

Football, Fraternities Seen Factors In Nation's Shortage Of Technicians

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—You might think that one good way to get more technicians would be to give them the prestige of the nation's shortage of technicians. Football and fraternities popped up yesterday as surprise factors in the nation's shortage of technicians.

Technicians are those laboratory assistants, draftsmen, electronic equipment men and the like who are vitally needed to do the spade work for engineers and scientists. Ordinarily trained in two-year courses, against the professional men's four or more, they are in even shorter supply right now than the professional men themselves.

Some universities have tried that, but college officials attending the convention of the American Assn. of Land-Grant colleges and State Universities report it hasn't worked out.

Why? because student technicians tend to be rated as second-class campus citizens.

At Purdue University for instance, said Charles W. Beese, dean of general extension at the Lafayette, Ind., institution, and several other college representatives interviewed with him agreed it is far better to set up technician training off the campus, in a separate plant or through extension work.

Purdue now has 1,800 technician students in off-campus courses, Pennsylvania State University has 1,400.

Elmer C. Easton, dean of engineering at Rutgers, the state university of New Jersey, said Rutgers had had the same experience as Purdue and is trying to get off-campus space.

Seventy-one institutions belong to the land-grant association. The "land-grant schools are so called because under an 1862 act of Congress they received federal lands in return for offering courses in agricultural and mechanical studies.

stance, said Charles W. Beese, "they weren't eligible for football or fraternities. It was a psychological thing, but it made them unhappy."

Quick Thinking By Truck Driver Saves All But One

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—William Grimm's truck killed one child yesterday but his quick thinking may have saved the lives of others.

Grimm's daily route through this southwestern Pennsylvania town takes him past a grade school at the bottom of a hill. As he was descending the hill—just as children were assembling for classes—the brakes of his vehicle failed.

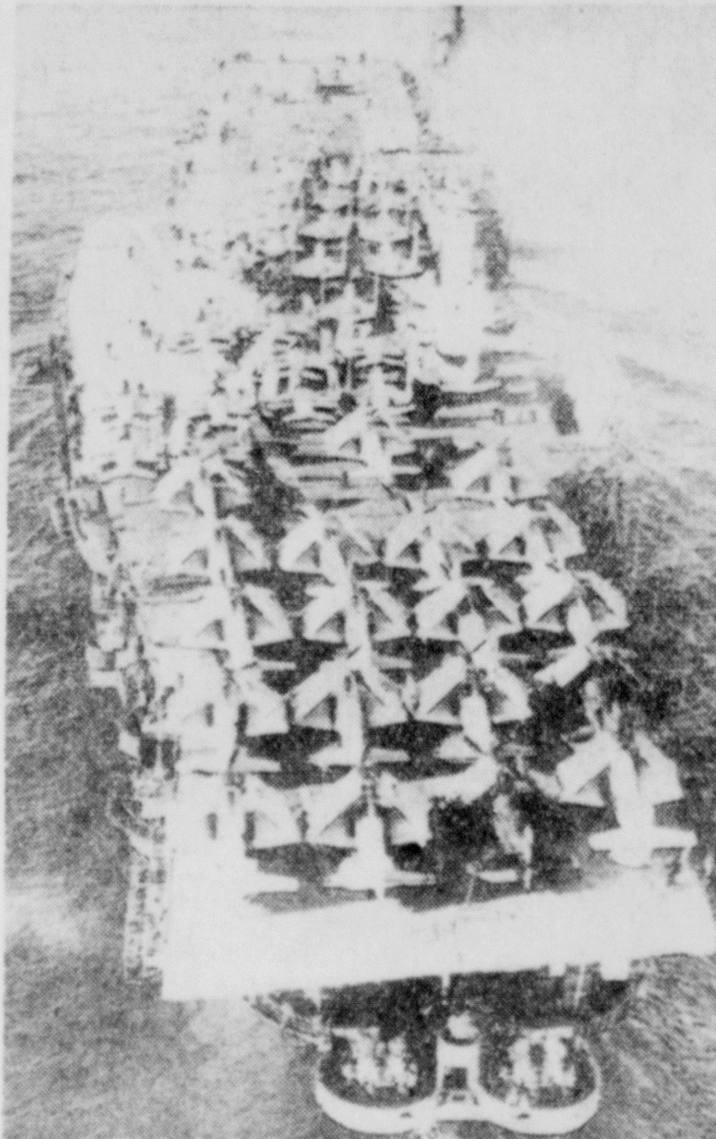

The 46-year-old truck driver swung the big vehicle into an alley. It struck and killed John Seaman, 7, a second grader who was en route to school. But Grimm's expert driving kept the vehicle from careening into the school's playground where several children were gathered. The truck smashed up after hitting the child and Grimm suffered painful, but not serious injuries.

Niacin Reduces Heart Disease

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP)—A simple way to reduce fatty substances that cause narrowing of the arteries and heart attacks was reported to medical scientists yesterday.

They were told that large doses of niacin, a B complex vitamin, can lessen cholesterol and related fatty materials that cause congestion in blood life lines.

The report was made to the American Society for the Study of Arteriosclerosis by Dr. William P. Parsons Jr. of the Jackson Clinic in Madison, Wis.

He was associated in the work with Drs. R.W.P. Achon, K.G. Berge, B.F. McKenzie and N.W. Barker of the Mayo Clinic.

They gave patients large doses of niacin for periods as long as a year. Dr. Parsons reported they succeeded in lowering the high levels of blood cholesterol in most of them.

The physicians stressed further study is needed to prove the value of the treatment in coronary heart disease and related disorders.

Further studies are in progress at the Jackson and Mayo clinics. The patients continued the diet they had taken before the treatment began. No effort was made to cut down on the cholesterol in their food.

Dr. Parsons said two capsules of niacin were given after each meal for 12 weeks.

"After that," his paper added, "the dose was increased, decreased or held at the same level, depending on the results."

Rocket Seat Ejects Pilot

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13 (AP)—A new rocket seat for pilot ejection from supersonic aircraft shows superiority over the standard cartridge ejection method, the Convair division of General Dynamics Corp. announced today.

Convair has been assigned as USAF coordinator in a multimillion-dollar industrywide program to develop a standard upward pilot escape system for all "century series" supersonic aircraft.

Convair said rocket sled tests at Edwards Air Force Base show the new rocket seat to be superior through greater clearance, reduction in deceleration rate and increased escape probability while an aircraft is on the ground, in case of a takeoff or landing mishap. And in tests from the cockpit of a delta-wing TF102 jet at 240 m.p.h., the rocket seat propelled its dummy passenger 124 feet above ground, compared with 55 feet for the cartridge-ejected seat and dummy.

Rocket thrust drove the seat forward as well as upward, softening the deceleration forces of the air stream. The thrust also tended to stabilize the pilot's seat and reduce tumbling.

The parachute attached to the dummy propelled by the rocket seat blossomed more fully at higher altitude, with consequent safer descent and landing.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—Our gag and giggle guys are already busy girding the nation's defenses against gloom next year.

These forward-looking folks have picked a half dozen special occasions to promote laughs in 1957.

You're supposed to trot out your best joke, old or new, to help get your grim buddy grinning again. Of course, a bum one may make him feel worse. That's the chance you'll take.

Calf Embryos Skin May Cut Burn Grafting

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Reporter

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (AP)—The possibility that skin from calf embryos might be used as a temporary dressing to reduce skin grafting requirements in certain kinds of plastic surgery was seen today by a team of Navy and civilian doctors.

The doctors hoped eventually to demonstrate that such hairless calf skin might be applicable in a wider role—emergency treatment of burned people in the event of atomic or other large-scale disaster. But they stressed that no trials of the technique have yet been made in burns.

And they added that "we frankly do not know as yet whether this material is practicable for use on the burned patient" despite encouragement for certain other uses.

The scientists are Drs. Blair O. Rogers and John M. Converse of New York University College of Medicine, and Lt. Cmdr. A. N. Silvestri of the National Naval Medical Center, Bethesda, Md. They made their report to the annual convention of the Assn. of Military Surgeons of the United States.

They said a few human experimental trials suggest the possibility of using such skin temporarily to cover relatively large areas of forehead and scalp from which flaps of skin are temporarily "rolled down" in stages.

The researchers said present techniques of grafting a patient's own skin temporarily into "flap" areas is a time-consuming process, causes additional pain to the patient, and sometimes leaves an unsightly scar at the place from which the temporary graft was taken.

The scientists declared that the embryonic calf skin might also be used as a dressing for areas of the body from which skin for grafting has been taken.

Lady Who Kissed Car Driver Denied Wreck Damages

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 13 (AP)—Pennsylvania's Supreme Court ruled today that a woman passenger who kissed the driver of an automobile is not entitled to collect damages for injuries she suffered because the car smashed into a telephone pole.

Justice John C. Arnold wrote the majority opinion denying damages to Miss Mary Lyons of McKeesport in her damage suit against Alex Wargo of McKeesport.

Arnold said "there is no question as to defendant's (Wargo's) negligence. In fact it was admitted." But he added that Miss Lyons was guilty "of some degree of negligence" that helped bring about the accident.

Highway Safety Program Pays Off

HERSHEY, Pa., Nov. 13 (AP)—A Maryland road safety expert said last night many lives were saved during the past year by a "slow down and live" program sponsored throughout the nation by the conference on highway safety.

"The 'slow down and live' program helped to reduce normal summertime increase in highway deaths, and achieve a reduction in traffic deaths for all three summer holidays," said Paul Burke, Maryland safety board coordinator.

Burke, in addressing the annual two-day meeting of the Northeastern Regional Conference on Highway Safety and Motor Vehicle Problems, said:

"We have been gratified to see that it spread to 24 states, and finally to the 48 states, District of Columbia and Puerto Rico."

City, County May Appeal PRC Order On Gas Rates

The governing bodies of the City of Cumberland and Allegany County may appeal the decision of the Maryland Public Service Commission that allows the C&A Gas Company its third increase in rates since 1952.

The move awaits reception of the written opinion of the board's decision made Friday at a meeting in Baltimore.

Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the Board of Allegany County Commissioners, said yesterday at a board meeting when the topic was discussed that if there is legal ground the decision will be appealed to Allegany County Circuit Court.

However, that action will follow a meeting of the Mayor and City Council and the county commissioners which is scheduled when the written opinion of the commission is received here.

The increase in rates requested last Spring by the company would provide roughly for about a 10 per cent hike over the present cost for natural gas.

The gas company under PSC regulations will submit its new rate schedule to the commission for approval.

C. C. Robbins, Cumberland District manager for the gas firm, said the rate schedule is being prepared and will be released to the commission and to the public in several days.

The decision of the PSC will bring in an additional net income of between $98,329 and $120,850. The firm had asked for an increase that would provide it with an additional net income of $147,000.

The gas company was given an increase in rates in September 1952 and then again in October 1954.

Police, Fire Chiefs Receive $50 Wage Boost

A departmental order increasing the salaries of the police and fire chiefs by $50 a month received approval of the Mayor and Council yesterday, effective October 28.

The salary of Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn was hiked from $405.50 to $455.50 a month and that of Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker from $388.50 to $438.50. The money will come from respective department appropriations, according to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

Keegan also announced that a new schedule, which gives members of the police and fire departments an additional seven days off a year will be placed in effect December 1. The new schedule, requested by the Police and Firemen's Welfare Association and prepared by the group for a period of one year, is to give police and firemen seven paid holidays received by other employees. Police and Firemen have been required to work holidays.

Routine activity coming before council included:

Salvation Army was granted permission to have a kettle house for its Christmas fund program at the corner of Baltimore and Centre Streets from Dec. 1-24 and at Virginia Avenue and Second Street on December 22.

Referred to Finance Commissioner John J. Long was the request for purchase of a Health Bond by the city from the Allegheny-Garrett Tuberculosis Association.

Payment of $23,054.58 to Moyer Brothers as partial payment for work on the sewage treatment plant was approved.

Checks were ordered issued to city employees Thursday for the first two weeks of the month.

A report on receipts and disbursements with November 1 balances submitted by Long shows the following: General, $921,290.63; water operative, $215,044.11; general improvement bonds, $98,893.84; sewer bonds of 1931, $8,758.38; sewage treatment plant bonds, $203,929.02.

Parking meter inspector Harry Whisner said collections the week of October 28 were $709.20 compared to $715.40 in the week of November 4, an increase of $6.20. Two proclamations were approved. One named November as "Religion in American Life Month" and the other the week of Nov. 11-17 as "Optimist Week."

Payment of $728.94 was authorized to the firm of Miles, Walsh and Stockbridge for professional services in connection with the sale of Memorial Hospital and flood project bond issues.

Filed was a letter from the Fort Cumberland Philatelic Society thanking council for use of City Hall for its meetings and inviting council to a meeting held last night.

To Meet Tomorrow

The Parent-Teacher Association of Columbia Street School will meet tomorrow at 7 p. m. at the school. A business meeting will begin at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Orville Swartley will speak on "Education" in observance of American Education Week. Miss Vickie Shober, former pupil, will entertain with several dances.

Eckhart Junkyard Permit Is Rejected By Board

Upon recommendation of J. Walker Chapman, county roads supervisor, the Allegany County Board of Commissioners, yesterday voted to reject an application for a junkyard permit in Eckhart.

Chapman said that Orville E. Crowe wants to operate a junkyard on a one-acre tract which is about 100 feet in the rear of a number of residences. Crowe said he would erect a concrete block building in which he would dismantle automobiles and would store the salvaged parts, Chapman reported.

The man also said he would not do any burning and would operate from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily except Sunday, Chapman told the commissioners.

Chapman said he met with the group of residents who were protesting the establishment of a junkyard near their homes. They told Chapman that on a recent Sunday the junkyard was used in burning insulation from wire and that they were in general against any junkyard near their residences.

The board also heard a complaint from Jacob Sutherland of Barton concerning coal trucks damaging a road near his home. He said the heavily loaded vehicles also damaged a drainage pipe in the road. The matter was referred to Chapman.

Mr. and Mrs. George Miller asked the board to have repairs made on Avenue J in Potomac Park. This was referred to Chapman. Ford Lee appeared before the board to ask about his request for a number of loads of reject stone on Arizona Avenue in the Greenpoint section.

He was told that the board would have the reject stone hauled to the road if he paid for the material and the cost of having it spread on the avenue.

Prospecting Lease Asked On City-Owned Island

A local company's proposal to "prospect" for a sand and gravel supply on city-owned property might provide Cumberland with additional revenue.

Cumberland Cement and Supply Company informed the Mayor and Council yesterday it is interested in Walnut Island, downstream from the Wiley Ford bridge in the Potomac River, for prospecting purposes to learn if sand and gravel are present. It requested a deed for the purpose.

The company in a letter from its president, George K. Steiner, said it would pay $300 for an 18-month option and if gravel and sand are found, would lease the property, remove the gravel and sand and pay the city the usual royalty of six cents a cubic yard. It was pointed out such an agreement would be advantageous to the city not only from a revenue standpoint but would remove a flood hazard as well.

The matter was referred to Street Commissioner William H. Buchholz, City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan. Buchholz said he would check with the Corps of Army Engineers.

Metro Clothes and Schwarzenbach's submitted bids for 50 uniforms for the Police Department. Metro bid $72.75 each or a total of $3,637.50. Schwarzenbach's submitted a $73.05 bid for a coat and two pair trousers (of different weight) or a total of $3,632.50 plus an alternate trouser bid of $16.20 each. The bids were referred to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

One bid was submitted for curbing, guttering and otherwise improving a section of Massachusetts Avenue. That was submitted by John S. Cook and Son and amounted to $5,262.32. The bid was referred to Buchholz, Finan and Nuzum.

Damage Action Suit Filed In Court

Suit for $3,000 damages was filed in Circuit Court yesterday by Howard M. and Margaret L. Bender, 1302 Michigan Avenue, against Minnie Zufall, 221 Grand Avenue.

The declaration, docketed by Edward J. Ryan, attorney for the plaintiffs, states that on September 16 at 5 p. m. a car operated by the defendant ran off the street and across the yard at the Bender residence and struck the dwelling.

It is claimed the shrubbery and yard were damaged and house knocked out of plumb. A wall and chimney were damaged and new flooring inside the residence dropped a quarter of an inch due to the crash.

Manslaughter Case Is Slated

The trial of a Bean's Cove Road youth on a charge of manslaughter by automobile will be held Friday at 9:15 a. m. in Circuit Court.

Francis H. Donahoe, 18, is charged with manslaughter in the death of Randall Langer Martin, five-year-old boy who resided on Pleasant Valley Road near the Pennsylvania state line. The boy was struck by Donahoe's car last July 22.

The trial had been delayed for several weeks due to the defendant being in Memorial Hospital with blood poisoning.

To Open Today

About 200 persons are expected to attend the "Christmas Holiday Premiere" of Churchill, Ltd., Baltimore, at the Fort Cumberland Hotel today from 2 to 9 p. m.

Arrangements for the presentation are being made by "Casey" Skidmore, Allegany county representative of the company. The program will feature special holiday displays.

Proposed New Roadside Law Is Opposed

The Allegany County Board of Commissioners yesterday went on record as being opposed to a proposed law pertaining to regulations of the right of way along all public roads.

Their action came in answer to a request from Delegate George Hughes Jr., a member of Legislative Council, for a recommendation in the matter. Hughes said the proposed legislation will be acted upon in the near future by the council.

As explained by Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, the proposed law is an "attempt at roadside zoning" and would result in 2,000 foot of right of way being under regulation.

The county commissioners would prepare maps of all public roads (including state highways) and designate commercial and non-commercial areas. One phase of the law would require all billboards in non-commercial areas to be removed in three years after passage of the act.

Getty said the proposed law is a new approach to roadside control. He also said that under his interpretation, of the proposed legislation if an area was not now commercial it could not be so designated as such in the future. Current commercial areas would be restricted to areas now in use.

Total Of $300 Paid By Area Motorists

Eight area motorists paid fines totaling $300 yesterday in Traffic Magistrate Court.

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason, who presided at the eight hearings, said the cases involved such violations as passing a school bus, reckless driving and driving while under the influence of liquor or drugs.

SRC Uses New Right Of Way Law For Land

Checks totaling $201,469 have been deposited with Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden at the Court House by the State Roads Commission in connection with land acquisition for highway work in the Corriganville area.

This is the first time that the new right of way law has been used in Allegany County in connection with road projects and property purchases.

There are 91 property owners who will be notified that the SRC has made an appraisal of the property needed in the highway project and the amount which is being offered. The amounts range from $1 up to $11,600, depending on the size of the property and whether or not the property is improved with buildings. There are four properties appraised in the $11,000 bracket, one in the $10,000 range and others in amount between the $1 and $11,600 valuations.

The property owners can accept the offer by the state, or else they can appeal to a Board of Review, which would be appointed by the judges of Circuit Court to hear the cases.

The new right of way law was enacted to prevent speculation in land deals and in effect "freezes" the property in question until the board acts.

G. Bates Chaires, district SRC engineer, said the Corriganville area highway project will consist of a 24-foot roadway with shoulders and will follow the present Mt. Savage Road, except for a section where it will traverse west of Corriganville. Some of the old C&P Railroad right of way will be utilized and there will be at least two new bridges built.

One bridge is under construction by the S. T. Brotemarkle Construction Company across Braddock Run, where it intersects with Wills Creek at the north end of the Narrows. The other bridge will be across Jennings Run. The new highway project is 3.24 miles.

Memorial Service Slated Friday At Mt. Savage KC

The memorial service team, comprised of officers of Cumberland Council 566, Knights of Columbus, and Rev. Marius Elsenner, CFM, Cap. pastor of St. Peter and Paul Church, as chaplain, will present a memorial service Friday evening at the home of Mt. Savage Council 1058.

The annual memorial service of the local council was held Sunday at the council home, with W. day at the council home, with W. ogy, and Rev. John U. Lyness, the principal talk.

The program, under direction of George Callahan, warden of the council, included vocal selections by the Casey Chorus. The service was well attended, according to Thomas Ca 'll, grand knight. Eight members of the council who died during the past year were honored.

School Playlot Sought

The effect of the Cumberland Thruway on the playground of East Side School was discussed yesterday by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of Allegany County Schools, and a representative of the firm contracted to draw up the design of the project.

Meeting with Webster was Robert A. Groves, Jr., chief of the structure section of Green Associates, Inc., of Baltimore.

Groves informed Webster that a large block of the playground located on Central Avenue will be taken for part of the eastern end of thruway.

Webster said he will contact the State Roads Commission and ask for a compensatory area for recreational activities.

Groves later informed members of the Cumberland Rotary Club at their noon luncheon meeting yesterday in Central YMCA of the thruway's location in downtown Cumberland.

To Hold Meeting

The Laymen's Christian Fundamentalist Association will hold a seminar in systematic theology tomorrow, in Malta Hall, 67 Prospect Square at 7:30 p. m.

Strike Ballot Underway By City Workers

C. W. Shipes, president of Local 812, Municipal Employees Union, said yesterday that a strike vote is being conducted among the union's 97 members.

Shipes said he was certain members would approve calling the walkout within 15 days if the Mayor and Council refuses to act on some of its proposals. The union, represents street, water and parks employees.

Meanwhile, in a meeting with council prior to yesterday's session, union representatives were told they will get a definite answer next Monday.

One of the three demands, a 25-cent an hour wage increase apparently has been ruled out. But employees have indicated they would go along if the city will grant them the other two.

In addition to wages, the union has asked a paid medical and hospital plan; and proposed that the city pay the difference between workmen's compensation for injury and a man's regular pay for a period of one year.

Source of the money to pay for such a program is the main stumbling block, according to city officials.

Last week, figures presented by council showed that the three demands would cost an estimated $68,500. Mayor Roy W. Eves said that included $60,000 for wages; $5,500 for the insurance plan and $3,000 for compensation.

LaVale Lions Sell Brooms

LaVale is due for a clean sweep.

That appeared clear after the LaVale Lions Club last night took only two hours to sell some 600 brooms which had been purchased from the Maryland Workshop for the Blind.

Floyd V. Cozad, general chairman for the project, expressed special thanks to the residents of LaVale who cooperated so well with the 65 Lions who traveled from door-to-door through the community selling the brooms. Cozad said not a single refusal was reported by the solicitors.

The club members were divided into nine teams. The captains were Howard Zarger, Robert Robinette, Russell Wagner, Richard Schwab, Ted Femi, Richard Hefcox, Henry Lowery, Dale McIntyre and Paul Owens.

Cozad and Jack Heath directed the advertising of the broom sale. The finance committee included William Harmon, John Conway, George Dressman and W. Edward Solomon, club president.

All proceeds from the sale will be used for the club's civic improvement project.

After the solicitation the Lions met at the LaVale Fire Hall for a buffet supper.

J. R. Schabinger, extension dairyman of the University of Maryland, met with testers of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association of Allegheny and Garrett counties during a session yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the office of Joseph M. Steger, county farm agent.

Monday night Mr. Schabinger spoke to a group of dairymen in Mr. Steger's office and went over the record books.

He stressed the use of home grown feed with a protein supplement which furnishes the most energy for cows. Mr. Schabinger told the dairymen of the best foods dollar-wise. Yesterday he noted the various changes and techniques pertinent to the testers of the DHIA.

Zoning Plan

man said, but something to meet existing needs.

Opposing the plan were Mr. and Mrs. Martz. The latter said she saw no reason why District 20 is being singled out but that she favored a county zoning program.

Martz said he was opposed to a referendum on a District 29 basis and called for a county vote on the issue.

Sen. See pointed out Mrs. Martz had no reason for fears expressed of her constitutional rights, that the legislators would not deprive anyone of such rights, and that the courts would not let them do so even if they wished.

It was pointed out that if the bill were introduced, hearings would be held, and there was general agreement a referendum would be required.

Reply Is Asked

Sen. See asked Kauffman to get committees of LaVale together to discuss the possibility of zoning a particular section of the area and report back.

Del. Driscoll said hearings will have to be held if opposition develops.

From a restricted section there would be little opposition. Del. Kelley said, adding he believes 95 per cent of the people in LaVale would approve. He said he is 100 per cent for the plan with a referendum.

Legislators assured Morgan a referendum would not delay the plan and John M. Robb, attorney for the Board of Election Supervisors, said the cost would be borne by the county.

Hyde's narrowest margin, 2,300 votes, came in westernmost Garrett County. He carried Montgomery County — the home county of both men — by 2,490 votes and won by more than 3,000 votes in Allegany, Frederick and Washington counties.

State College Controls Study Announced

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13 (P)—The Fund for the Advancement of Education announced last night a $125,000 study of state government controls over colleges and universities.

Alvin Eurich, vice president of the Ford-financed fund, said the investigation was being undertaken at the request of the Assn. of Governing Boards of State Universities and other educational organizations. He made his announcement at the convention of the American Assn. of Land-Grant Colleges and State Universities.

In requesting the funds, the Governing Boards of State Universities said a study was needed "of the ever increasing vexations of governmental controls over institutions and boards."

It said "this trend . . . is beginning to sabotage the freedom of educational institutions and place them under political controls."

Facing Backward May Be The Answer

When a chartered airliner crashed in England with a big load of British refugees from the Middle East, the surprise was that only seven were killed and 40 injured out of 80 passengers. It was a fairly bad crash attributed to a very bad landing. In the plane's nose, the pilot, co-pilot, and radio officer died. There was fire.

On entering the plane, however, rescuers noted the passengers were seated facing backward. And to this rearward seating system the chartering company ascribed the low mortality and the good fortune of those who escaped without any injury at all. This, apparently, was a commercial transport plane in which a sensible safety precaution had been adopted — and it paid off.

In America it has been frequently suggested that backward seating would be a great advantage in a crash. That way, support to the back and the head in case of a sudden stop is provided by the upholstered back of the seat. In the ordinary forward-riding position, the seat-belt is a help—but can exert a lot of pressure in its narrow way on a tender area. And who ever heard of a head-belt to keep the head from snapping forward?

Airlines have never wished to put their customers to the annoyance of riding backwards. Some planes do have seats at the rear, facing to the rear, that can be chosen by passengers for safety or other reasons. But anyone who has ever sat on the bucket seats of a World War II transport can certify that the comfort of passengers has not always been a fetish with the armed services. If the backward seating is better for safety, why don't U. S. military planes, at least, insist on it?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Cheap Labor

It is difficult to understand why our colleges and universities should expect to be able to employ competent men and women to teach the youth of this country on inadequate pay. The average annual pay for faculty members in the United States, according to the National Education Association, is $5,243 which is about $100.82 a week and that is not take home pay. This average includes the highest salaries, so that there must be many which have a take home pay of under $80 a week.

To get this salary, most of these men and women have put in at least five years of study after high school, and most have PhD's which means more years of work. The average pay for a college president, whose functions, apart from scholarship, are not unlike those of a corporation president or a high echelon public official, is $11,314 a year. There may be additional compensations such as a beautiful but for some reason usually badly-heated house, an automobile and the fringe benefit of a pension.

Money, of course, isn't everything, but teachers marry and have children and are expected to read lots of books and magazines and to be specialists in difficult subjects. It is not to be wondered at that so many of them are dissatisfied. A man who knows how to make an H-bomb cannot earn a decent living at his trade, to say nothing about earning as much as a funny-face that appears on television to advertise a hair spray or the tip of a cigarette—one that will not give you cancer of the lungs if you smoke two packs a day for 20 years.

The trouble with college education in the United States is that too much money goes into buildings and too little is left for brains. After all, a learned man can inspire youth in a tent or sitting on the stump of a tree, or in a little red schoolhouse. Some students measure the worth of a college by its country-club atmosphere which is not good enough for an education. I was talking to a girl recently who said that she had majored in economics; so I thought that we might have a discussion on the difference between classical economics and the stuff which the Keynesians teach to our young. Poor thing! She only got a good grade in that course and of Ricardo she apparently knew almost nothing except that he and Adam Smith were old fogies. I wanted to ask her if she thought that they had voted for Herbert Hoover, but forbore.

She reminded me of the young fellow who had heard someone say that George Bernard Shaw wrote "The Quintessence of Ibsenism" and thought it was a play because Shaw was a playwright. I wanted to tell him that Shaw also wrote a lot about Richard Wagner who was a German and that that proved that Shaw was a Nazi—but I forbore. Good grades apparently are unrelated to thinking in some of these places where the professor worries how he is going to pay for baby's shoes, the price of which constantly goes up despite the fact that the aforesaid professor teaches economics in a school of business.

When there is so much shouting about the training of scientists and engineers, there ought to be a little interest in who is going to do the training, not only of those who devote themselves to the polytechnicum, but also those who are of the university, which is a place for access to universal knowledge. Surely the underpaid will be conscious of their financial disabilities and if they are entrusted to teach philosophy or the social sciences, they are likely to feel that they have been proletarianized. When the average pay for deans of women, the moral guides for your daughters, is $5,200 a year, but for press agents, euphemistically called directors of public relations, is $6,000 a year, there is something wrong with the wage scale and the sense of proportion.

A press agent may be a good guy and he may be able to get the college president's name in the papers, with a picture yet, but is he really worth more than a head librarian?

It is not that money alone counts; it is that money is needed to live in this world.

'And I Dream About Molotov And Siberia'

Soviet Union Suffers Great Defeat In Hungary

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

The last 10 days will quite surely be remembered by the ruthless old recorder, history, as the period when the two great opposing world systems suffered their worst reverses in a good many years.

Just to accentuate the positive, one may as well begin with the Soviet reverse. There should be no mistake about it. The Hungarian people may be drowned in their own brave blood (with nothing being done to help them by those administration leaders who claimed four years ago, that disbelief in "liberation" was a sign of moral rottenness if not of actual subversion), but the Soviet action in Hungary is also a terrible defeat for the Soviet Union.

Warned By Tito

This was an action, one can be fairly sure, that the Soviet leaders wished to avoid. Unhappily, all concessions made by imperial powers to their dependencies seem always to be limited by the invariable rule of "too little and too late."

Since last spring, Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia had been warning Khrushchev, Bulganin and company that the Russian position in Hungary was untenable, and that something radical must be done about it. But nothing radical was done. On the contrary, the Soviets, like other imperial powers before them, desperately tried to prolong a surely controllable and familiar colonial situation.

That was the meaning of the desperate Soviet effort to keep Matyas Rakosi in power. That was the meaning, too, of the effort to promote Rakosist stooge Erno Gero, which was made by the Hungarian specialists in the Soviet Presidium, Anastas Mikoyan and Mikhail Suslov, when Rakosi's fall became inevitable. That was the meaning, finally, of the wild effort by these same men to get a government in which Erno Gero had at least a little remaining leverage, when Hungarian popular feeling forced the choice of Imra Nagy as prime minister.

It is important to recall these episodes of past history because they prove that Soviet judgment, like other brands of governmental judgment, can be extremely fallible. It can be said on highest authority that the Soviet leaders told Marshal Tito, during his visit to Yalta, that they were strongly opposed to the kind of thing that has now happened in Hungary. It can be said, further, that in Hungary the Soviets would have accepted, reluctantly but on the whole resignedly, the kind of thing that has happened in Poland.

Provoked By Gero

But this was not what happened in Hungary. Instead, partly because of the Soviet delaying tactics and partly because there was no Hungarian Gomulka, there was an explosion at Budapest. The record shows that the Soviet stooge, Erno Gero, who was reportedly — and deservedly — murdered thereafter, actually provoked the explosion on his own initiative. He wanted Russia's military intervention as the only way to save his own skin.

The result was the hideous Hungarian tragedy — so far in three acts. On this tragedy the curtain has not yet fallen as these words are written. What the end will be cannot be known now, although it should be known rather soon. What can be known already, is only the extreme ugliness of the choice facing the Soviet leadership.

In brief, if the Soviets are not prepared to abandon the Hungarians absolutely to their own de-

Baering Down On The News

By Arthur "Bugs" Baer

We know what goes into the vocabulary grinder at the United Nations. But what comes out the earpieces?

What does Pakistan hear that Lapland and Uganda lose on the guttural inter-com? Why does Pakistan abstain?

Are we getting lip service without a compensating ear delivery? Is there evaporation in polyglot transit that allergizes the translation? Are the Pakistani present just to vote absent?

Let's start at the root of the matter and work down. On the tally to standardize tattooing on pigmies there was one nod frozen on its handle. Pakistan abstained.

The proposition to exempt keys under doormats from taxation was almost unanimous. Pakistan abstained.

Every time a vote is taken Pakistan has the faraway look of a penguin listening to the mating call of a tropical bird. What about the ballot on filling in Suez Canal like it used to be? Pakistan abstained.

Since the U. N. started 10 semesters ago Pakistan hasn't yessed anything on the menu. I wished I had its willpower.

Maybe Pakistan is too ethical to listen in on a party-line. Anyway, when Gabriel rocks that last roll call you can bet Pakistan will abstain.

President Warned Congressmen About Grave Possibility Of War

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — Congressional leaders who sat down with the President last week learned that the world was in a much more precarious position than appeared in the newspapers.

It was stated publicly afterward that the briefing was reassuring. Privately congressional leaders said just the opposite.

Next week will tell whether the world will be plunged into war, President Eisenhower was represented as saying. The United States is powerless to control developments.

We are willing and able to fight, the congressmen were told, if it has to come to that. What Russia does in the next few days will tell the story.

Eisenhower himself made the essential points at the White House session. He was eloquent and assured. In past conferences involving domestic matters the President has sometimes seemed opaque and bored. But in the current crisis he was well prepared. His analysis was sharper than that of his subordinates.

The President opened and closed the conference. Herbert Hoover Jr., acting secretary of state in the absence of John Foster Dulles, read a prepared statement, and read it as his father used to read statements in press conferences — not effectively. He did not seem too well prepared.

Allen Dulles, younger brother of the secretary of state and head of Central Intelligence, also gave a long schoolroom lecture which did not impress congressional leaders.

Difficult Red Movements

Admiral Arthur Radford, dynamic chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, spoke of the logistic troubles the Russians would have in moving troops into the Suez area. He estimated it would take several weeks because of the distance, and because of the fact that Egypt is completely surrounded by non-Communist nations. He suggested Russia might be able to make a secret concentration inside Jordan along the Israeli border, then invade from that direction.

It was brought out that Russia already has technical equipment on hand in the Near East necessary to fight a war. That was why the British lost a plane over Syria flying at 45,000 feet. It could only have been brought down at that altitude with radar interceptor equipment, obviously supplied by Russia.

Heart of the White House briefing was summarized by the President as follows: We do not intend to give up the Middle East. What happens there is now up to Russia. There are three chief moves Russia could make:

1. Move in the Red army—which would mean war.
2. Move in volunteers—which would not mean war. It would be serious but war could be avoided.
3. Let the United Nations police force settle the dispute.

Syria Is Gone

The opinion was expressed that the U. N. and the West had moved so fast to send a police force that they had caught Russia off base. It was believed that Moscow definitely intended to move troops but the U. N. got there first. If Russia does not move by this week, peace will be preserved.

No matter what happens, however, the congressmen were told Russia will end up with a new satellite — Syria. Already that country is Communist infiltrated.

Russia would have plenty of troops to move to Egypt, should that be Moscow's decision, the congressmen were told, because the blood bath in Hungary has destroyed any chance of revolt in Poland, Czechoslovakia or East Germany. More troops will not be needed there.

Opening the Suez Canal will be much more difficult than the public realizes. Not only has it been blocked at both ends, but Congressmen were told the ship sunk in the middle was a converted LST loaded with quick-setting cement.

Congressional leaders who listened to this gloomy report included men from both political parties, all walks of life, all parts of the country: Clarence Cannon from the Mark Twain country of Missouri, who has battled against Ike's aid for private utilities; Carl Albert from the cattle country of Oklahoma; ex-Speaker Joe Martin from the jewelry-making area of Massachusetts; Charlie Halleck of Indiana; 87-year-old Senator Theodore Francis Green, the Rhode Island millionaire; Senator Knowland, of the California newspaper publishing family; John McCormack, the kindly congressman from Boston; Senator Harry Byrd, millionaire apple-grower from Virginia; and so on.

Some Congressional Skeptics

Some of them wondered, as Ike talked, why he as a peace president didn't make some of his danger-of-war statements before election. And there was some intimation that Moscow by splitting the Western Alliance had accomplished the most coveted objectives of its entire foreign policy.

Congressional leaders were franker in expressing the opinion that the United States should have done something to show anti-Communist Hungarians we were behind them. One suggested we should have given the Russians 12 hours' notice to withdraw Soviet troops, then recognized the rebel government of Hungary.

When administration leaders were asked whether we would recognize the rebel government, the answer was absolutely, no.

Ike was sympathetic toward the problem of keeping the spark of liberty alive in Hungary, but did not see just what we could do without risking war.

As the conference closed Senator Lyndon Johnson, the Texas leader, gave assurances of bipartisan approach on foreign affairs. It was significant, however, that Speakey Sam Rayburn, who trained Lyndon from the day he emerged from his political swaddling clothes, made no such statement.

Privately Mr. Sam told friends that the Eisenhower administration alienation of France and England is the gravest of all blunders and that foreign policy must be subject to frank and careful debate in the House of Representatives—where, incidentally, Sam packs a lot of weight. On The Side

By E. V. Durling

PARIS — In my research as how to live in Paris on an easily balanced budget I mastered the mysteries of traveling in the Metro (subway). I also rode on the rear platform of a bus. I dined at a bistro on the Rue Boetie, danced at the Mimi Penon and smoked a French cigar. My success made me reckless. I threw caution to the winds. I decided to drink the aperitif most popular with Parisians of limited incomes. It nearly floored me. The bartender, a sympathetic fellow, said I hadn't drank the drink right. That I drank it too fast. He also said it was a drink "for which a taste must be cultivated." I don't think I care to go further with the aperitif research. After all, I feel I have done enough in the interests of any subscriber who may wish to see Paris on a limited budget.

PLAQUES

The Parisians have a passion for commemorative plaques. How far they will go along these lines is illustrated by a plaque on a night club in Rue Pierre Charron called Chez Carrere. This plaque commemorates the fact that Queen Elizabeth II of England once danced there. Oh, well, we shouldn't be so critical about that sort of thing. On a house in midtown Manhattan there is a plaque reading, "Diamond Jim" Brady once lived here.

HIT

A current box office hit in the Paris sector is a revival of that torrid play by Alfred Savoir titled "La Huitieme Femme de Barbe Bleu." What actress starred in that play when it was first presented in New York? Wasn't it Irene Bordoni or am I stuck for another stogie? How about the first film version? Wasn't Gloria Swanson the star? BIRTHS

Have you recently become a proud papa? How many days did your wife stay in bed after the child was born? At the celebrated Mont Choisi Maternity Clinic in Lausanne, Switzerland, mothers are required to stay in bed for 10 days after the birth of the child. The Mont Choisi Clinic, where an unusual method of painless child birth is practiced, is where many wealthy and celebrated women go for births. Among these have been Rita Hayworth and Oona O'Neill Chaplin.

THAT BAGGAGE

Will soon be shoving off for New York. I have already started worrying about the baggage. I have cleverly supervised the handling of 12 pieces of baggage in Europe from The Hague to Amsterdam to Brussels to Paris. My girl friend has been doing some shopping. There may be some additions to our baggage. I heard a true story the other day that made me shiver. It concerned an American woman who left London for New York with 19 pieces of baggage. She traveled by air. Her baggage weighed 400 pounds; That was 334 pounds excess baggage Her husband had to pay an excess baggage charge for her of $686. Asked how she happened to have so much baggage, the lady said "Oh, while shopping in Europe I saw so many lovely things I just couldn't resist buying."

ASIDES

Paris water is drinkable. It is harmless. That's what I understand. If it isn't I certainly am in a spot. I have been drinking it regularly. That is, between meals. When dining I adhere to wine. My favorite is still chablis.

There is a restaurant in Paris that offers in connection with a prix fixe dinner all the vodka you can drink with no extra charge.

SIDELIGHTS

The minimum check for two in the leading Montmartre night spots which feature floor shows of unattractive females is about $30. That includes a service charge of 20 per cent. . . The Orly Airport is 11 1/2 miles from Paris. The Bourget Airport is 10 miles from the city. Quite a ride.

CHANGES

After World War II the Paris authorities changed the names of some of their important avenues. As for example, what was formerly the Avenue Victor Emanuel III is now Avenue Franklin Roosevelt. What was formerly the Avenue de Tokio is now the Avenue de New York. (Copyright, 1956, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

You're Telling Me!

By William Ritt

Samuel Pepys wrote down everything he saw, thought or did in his diary which was intended just for his own eyes. Posterity, though, played him a dirty trick. His stuff was published 125 years ago—and now the world knows all about him.

To his other accomplishments, Pepys added that of being an outstanding tosspot. The record of his college career at Cambridge reveals that he got a terrific bawling out for being "scandalously overseene in drink."

Osteoarthritis Is Still Major Medical Problem

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Osteoarthritis is the type of arthritis that afflicts the joints of middle-aged and older persons. This is why the woman in her 40s develops nodes on her fingers or Grandpa moans about his creaking knees when he walks up and down stairs.

This form of joint disease is a major medical problem, for many reasons. No one dies of osteoarthritis but it has made life miserable for millions of oldsters. The weight-bearing joints usually are involved, particularly those in the knees, hips, and lower spine. The fingers are exceptions to the rule.

One or more joints may be affected, and symptoms usually are confined to the afflicted parts. In this respect, the condition differs from rheumatoid arthritis in which the general health may be affected. Manifestations consist of stiffness, aching, and soreness, especially after a period of inactivity or severe exertion.

Joint changes can be detected by X-ray ion, before symptoms appear. Such abnormalities occur in 90 per cent of all men and women by the time they reach their 40th birthday. They become more marked with each passing decade. But only 5 to 10 per cent of these persons ever have discomfort, showing there is no correlation between the appearance of the joint under X-ray and the ensuing distress.

The cause of osteoarthritis remains a mystery. Many believe it to be a part of the aging process; with years of wear and tear, the joint surfaces deteriorate. Trauma also plays a role. Persons with bowlegs or knock-knees, for example, are more susceptible to arthritis of the knees because their weight-bearing surfaces are not in perfect balance.

The knees and hips of the obese suffer because of the extra burden they are forced to carry. Osteoarthritis is common also among older athletes, particularly in the most used joints. Treatment of this type of arthritis will be considered tomorrow.

TOMORROW: Measures to relieve joint stiffness.

PROBLEM HUSBAND

E. M. writes: My husband does not enjoy eating. He chews and chews meat and then spits it out, no matter whether it is porterhouse steak or turkey. When my son was a baby and tried this stunt, I took his food away from him and starved him for a few days. I had to do this only once and he has grown up to be a strapping policeman. Am I to treat my husband the same way to get him to eat?

Try And Stop Me!

By Bennett Cerf

An English lady, aboard an international train grew very fidgety as it neared the Swiss border. She had struck up an acquaintance with a friendly fellow passenger earlier and now confided to him, "I mean to smuggle in the wrist watch I'm wearing, and I'm nervous as a cat."

A customs inspector came in due course, and said, "I don't suppose either of you have failed to declare any dutiable objects." Almost casually, the man pointed to the lady's watch, observing, "I believe you'll find our friend has overlooked that little bauble."

The watch was confiscated while the lady shed tears. When the train was in motion again, she demanded of the informer, "How could you be such a swine?" He pulled a valise out from under his seat and opened it, revealing at least a hundred splendid watches.

"Don't take it so hard, lady," he advised. "Help yourself to any two of them!"

Gifts of instant coffee will also be received for Valley House, an institution in Baltimore for the treatment of alcoholics.

An offering also will be taken for the work of the Church Home and Hospital, Baltimore, and for the work of the Young People's fellowship in the parish which sends out Christmas boxes to the men in service.

Taken presentations will be made by members of the Vestry, the Woman's Auxiliary, the Young People's Fellowship and the Church School as the oblations of the Eucharist are presented. School Survey To Be Made At Keyser Hi

W. Va. Committee Will Visit Area

KEYSER — Parker C. Black, principal of Keyser High School, has called the attention of teachers to the fact that a special survey committee, under direction of West Virginia University, will visit the school Thursday. There are a number of forms to be filled out for this survey committee, covering various subjects.

In reminding the teachers of their responsibilities, he said he has two sets of forms to be completed and that the teachers each have one set to get ready before Thursday. The eighth and 12th grade teachers have one form to be completed by that time.

There will be interviews of teachers and the principal after the survey committee arrives here. This is a state-wide project.

Additional information of details will be submitted to the teachers, he added.

School was closed on Monday, Veterans Day, and the band participated in the Veterans' Day program at Memorial Park on Center Street. The band committee on raising funds for new uniforms for the band met in the principal's office to discuss the fund soliciting campaign.

Senior vocational preference tests were given Tuesday for a group of seniors, and another group of seniors will take the tests today.

Cubs Trade Hacker, Hoak And Whisenant To Cincinnati

Chicago Gets Ray Jablonski And Singleton

John Holland, New GM At Windy City, Makes First Deal

CHICAGO, Nov. 13 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs today traded outfielder Pete Whisenant, pitcher Warren Hacker and third baseman Don Hoak to the Cincinnati Reds for third sacker Ray Jablonski and pitcher Elmer Singleton.

It was the first deal by the Cubs' new General Manager John Holland.

Jablonski, 30, batted .254 for the Reds last season, hitting 15 home runs and drove across 65 runs. Singleton, 36, a right-hander, has been one of the Pacific Coast League's outstanding hurlers for the past five years.

Hacker Had 13-13 Mark

Whisenant hit .238 for the Cubs in 102 games this year, while Hoak was a .213 hitter in 119 games. Hacker, a 15-game winner for the Cubs in 1952, this season had a 13-13 mark and a 4.66 ERA.

Bob Scheffing, new Chicago Cub field manager, said Singleton was highly-regarded on the West Coast, but that major league clubs have shied from him because of his age. Scheffing managed Los Angeles to the Pacific Coast League title this year.

Singleton was purchased at the end of the 1956 Pacific Coast League season after he fashioned an 18-8 mark with Seattle and led the league with an ERA of 2.55. His record of 17 complete games was second best in the league. For five seasons, Singleton had an 82-65 Coast League record. He previously failed to make the big league grade with the Boston Braves, Pittsburgh Pirates and Washington Senators.

Joined Club Last Year

Hoak had been obtained from the Brooklyn Dodgers last winter in a deal which sent Randy Jackson to the Dodgers. Whisenant was acquired last spring from the St. Louis Cardinals in a swap for outfielder Hank Sauer.

Hacker's first full major league season was with the Cubs in 1952 when he had a 15-9 record and led all National League starting pitchers with a 2.58 ERA. He had a 6-13 mark in 1954 and 11-15 in 1955.

Delaware Archer Slays 200-Pound Buck In Maryland

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 13 (AP)—Franklin Caudill, a 23-year-old textile worker from Seaford, Del., bagged a 200-pound, 9-point buck with an arrow in southern Dorchester County early today.

It was believed to be the largest deer ever taken in the area by a bow and arrow hunter.

Caudill said he shot the deer about 7 a. m. and stalked it for two hours until the deer sank to the ground and could be finished off with a hunting knife.

Vic Wertz Enters Detroit Hospital

DETROIT, Nov. 13 (AP)—Cleveland first baseman Vic Wertz, voted last week as having made the American League comeback-of-the-year in 1956, is back in a hospital here for a complete physical checkup.

"I haven't been feeling too well lately," Wertz explained. "So my doctor thought I'd better have a complete series of tests."

Wertz entered the Detroit Osteopathic Hospital last Saturday. He expects to be released Friday or Saturday.

A victim of polio in 1955, Wertz, 32, home runs and general performance earned him a majority of the votes for the American League comeback-of-the-year title in the annual Associated Press poll of the Baseball Writers Assn. of America.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 13 (INS)—I'd call this a ten strike — Audrey Hepburn and Mel Ferrer in "The Loving Couple," the amusing book by Virginia Rowan (the pen name of Patrick Dennis, who wrote "Auntie Mame"). If you've read the book you know how amusing it is. The latter half you have to read upside down.

Freddie Brisson, who's going to produce "The Loving Couple," discussed the possibilities of co-starring Mel and Audrey while Mel was in Hollywood. When he went back to Europe he took the book and Audrey said she wants to co-star with Mel and she thinks this would be just right. Freddie had said all the time that he wanted to get a real life husband and wife team for the star roles.

I'm already holding my sides laughing over the idea of Joan Blondell playing Peg in "Desk Set" at 20th. If you saw the play with Shirley Booth, you'll remember Peg as the heroine's closest pal — and she has an inebriated scene in a business office that brought down the house with laughter.

In the film, of course, Katharine Hepburn plays the Booth role and Spencer Tracy is the co-star with Walter Lang directing. Joan hasn't been on the 20th lot since "A Tree Grows in Brooklyn" which earned her an Academy nomination. Maybe Peg will get her the same honor.

Looking at "Ten Commandments" gave Mike Curtis an idea about Yvonne De Carlo, as indeed it must have given other producers ideas. He saw her as Helen Morgan. "Ten Commandments" is the best thing Yvonne has ever done, and completely different from the usual siren roles in which her sex appeal is featured. She plays the wife of Moses, and is a standout in a cast of fine players.

Mike will test her for "Why Was I Born?" and he is also,

Dreadful Sufferings
Of The Successful

TENNESSEE ERNIE FORD

While John Crosby is on vacation, his column will be conducted by guest writers. Today's contributor is Tennessee Ernie Ford.

When they told me John Crosby was going to South America, I said this is going to be the biggest stampede of tapirs, anteaters, and giant armadillos you ever saw. Not that these beasts are scared John's going to shoot them; they're afraid he's going to write about them. What with "Zoo Parade," "Circus Boy" and Jack Webb's "Noah's Ark," these animals can never tell when they're going to be on television.

Now, how can you look your best in the middle of the jungle? If an old armadillo is angling for a "Circus Boy" job, John'll catch him with dirt under his scales and not a bit of makeup. John would cut him to ribbons. "Just not a TV type," in his column would end the poor beast's chances forever.

Course, if they thump ahead on those logs that he's coming, just watch 'em spruce up. Can't you just see some monkey setting up a coconut grog luncheon with John and a jaguar? The interview would go something like this: "How many cubs you got? How 'bout an exclusive on your next Disney picture? And, is it true that you're primarily a lady killer?" All this with the ever present agent ready to take his 10 per cent bite! Oh, John's going to have a roaring good time.

While he's interviewing the animals, this pea-picker is happy to contribute a few words to John's readers about what's been happening to yours truly.

Boy, they've got me squirming like a worm in hot ashes. I'm working both sides of the potato patch with my daytime show, five times a week, and our new Thursday night show for Second Ford.

For a gag on our second Ford show, I read a letter which said, "We sure like your new show, Ernie, and wish you lots of luck. Hope to see you sometime soon. Signed, your loving wife, Betty and your two children."

Well, sir, I can tell you that things aren't that bad but Betty took that script page and framed it over my desk. On it she wrote, "It could happen to you. Don't let it!"

Buck and Brion, my two boys, keep asking me why we don't visit our ranch like we used to before we started the night show. I try to tell 'em that daddy has to work lots more and we just have to plan things differently. But every time I do this, Buck, who's six, stops me with, "But, dad, it only lasts a half hour!" No comment.

Well, I know I don't have to go to South America to be around the kind of animals I love. Just give me any free week and the whole gang migrates to the ranch located about 100 miles northeast of San Francisco. I've got 500 acres of some of the most beautiful land to be found anywhere outside of Tennessee. We've stocked the place with 24 head of fine Herefords and by the time this reaches print, I'll have a new blooded bull. He's a beauty. You can buy these bulls from just about any price to several thousand dollars. That's a lot of "prime singin'." But, let me tell you, minister to meetings with Iraqi you can't buy a free week for

A Pick Up

How do you look when you pick up a pencil dropped at school or the office? Do you bend over in an ungraceful pose with your legs spread apart, your rear out? What a sight that is to behold—yet, too many do just that.

On The Line

by Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (INS)—The possessor of a new U. S. passport is given, along with that document, the bonus of a sense-making little booklet prepared by the State Department and entitled "When You Go Abroad."

It would make of every American traveling abroad a living, breathing doll of an emissary, an ambitious goal as we've ever embarked upon — if you've seen some of the riff-raff who represent our side in the alien corn.

President Eisenhower tried to put in words what the State Department hopes: "Each of us," he said, "whether bearing a commission from his government or traveling by himself for pleasure or for business, is a representative of the United States of America and he must try to portray America as he believes it in his heart to be."

The booklet pledges the protection of the United States government to all U. S. travelers "in areas where the U. S. can properly safeguard your person and property." But something is expected of the passport holder.

"The bearer . . . automatically undertakes certain responsibilities. He is usually looked upon by other peoples as an emissary of this country and as a typical product of its institutions . . . Thus, your personal bearing in a foreign land constitutes a testing of our national conduct, and you can be assured that at no time in the history of our country have our relations with other countries been more vital to the national welfare."

Excerpts, paraphrased and quoted: "Remember, if you are arrested and imprisoned in a foreign land, an American consular officer cannot simply order your release, even though he may be able to offer you other assistance." Consular officers are not required to cash checks for you, personally lend you money, sell anything, "endorse new religious sects," or make your hotel reservations for you, or marry you—though they are permitted to be witnesses.

A child born of American parents overseas should be registered immediately with the nearest consul, to establish its citizenship. The American consul steps in and takes custody of a dead traveler's estate and disposes of it according to the instructions of the executors or the nearest heirs.

'SMALLEST CHURCH IN THE WORLD'

NEVER LOCKED

THE REV. LOUIS WEST, former Pastor of the South Baptist Church in South Boston, Mass., for more than 20 years, has built a tiny church in Hudson, Mass., where he is in semi-retirement. The chapel is five feet wide and eleven feet in length. Four people can be seated within, and as many as 100 have congregated outside for the services he holds on Sundays. At left, Reverend West stands before the pulpit. At right, he makes a few repairs on his tiny church. (International)

Aircrafts, Steels, Coppers Again Lead Market Rise

NEW YORK, Nov. 13 (AP)—For the second day in a row, aircrafts, steels and coppers led the stock market to an advance today.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose 20 cents to $180.00 with the industrials up 30 cents, the rails up 30 cents and the utilities unchanged.

Of 1,158 issues traded, advances outnumbered declines by 506 to 389. Volume totaled 2,140,000 shares compared with 1,600,000 yesterday.

Aircrafts continued their rise on increasing profits and the feeling that today's international situation seems to portend no let-up in defense spending, brokers said.

The steels were up following a new high in monthly production and continued evidence of increasing demand as well as the prospect for price increases.

In the steel group, Lukens added 6 1/4 to its run-up of 9 yesterday. This followed a public estimate by its president yesterday that the firm would enjoy record earnings.

The most active stock was U.S. Steel, up 1/2 at 7 1/4 on 33,200 shares. Second was General Dynamics, new up 1 at 5 3/4 on 29,000 shares. Third was Boeing, up 1 1/4 at 59 1/2 on 29,300.

Next came North American Aviation, up 1/4 at 4 1/2 and Curtiss-Wright, up 1/4 at 47 1/2.

Zoning Plan For LaVale Is Studied

Legislators Meet For Discussions On This Proposal

Proposed legislation which would grant zoning powers to the LaVale Sanitary Commission was presented to Allegany County legislators here last night.

The plan was taken under advisement by the legislators who include Senator Charles M. See and members of the Allegany County Delegation to the General Assembly.

The plan was presented by eight representatives of the LaVale Sanitary Commission and the LaVale Civic Improvement Association, and opposed by Mr. and Mrs. George A. Martz of Narrows Park.

Kauffman Presents

As proposed by a bill presented by Harry C. Kauffman, chairman of the Zoning Commission of the civic group, the legislation would empower the Sanitary Commission to adopt zoning rules, regulations and restrictions covering land in the LaVale Sanitary District.

Kauffman said the legislation is not designed to drive business out of LaVale, but to give the Commission the ability to zone, as is done in Cumberland.

He said the Commission feels it can absorb any extra costs so that the plan will not become a financial burden.

Zoning boundaries, he said, would be the same as those held by the commission.

Legislators pointed out that some parts of District 29 might oppose inclusion in the plan.

Kauffman spoke for the LaVale delegation in saying the group had "no objections to a referendum" on the issue if the legislators felt there was a conflict of interest.

Del. Estel C. Kelley asked Kauffman if the proponents had given any thought of taking in only part of District 29 and received a negative answer from Kauffman.

Sen. See said the legislators "agree you need something" but pointed out the district "runs a long way from LaVale" in questioning the scope of the zoning district.

Opposes Annexation

Asked by Del. George F. S. Jeffrey if LaVale had considered annexation by Cumberland, Kauffman pointed out the law setting up the LaVale Sanitary Commission provides it is opposed to incorporation.

LaVale, he explained, does not need many of the costs from incorporation, such as police and garbage collection, and that the people in the spread-out area are opposed to incorporation with Cumberland.

Kauffman also pointed out that annexation would require approval by the majority of the voters of both Cumberland and LaVale. It was pointed out that a zoning law would have no effect upon existing businesses.

Powers listed in the proposed bill, Kauffman told Del. Fred B. Driscoll, are not unusual and are held by Cumberland's zoning board.

In reply to a query by Del. Driscoll, Kauffman said he knew of no opposition to zoning in LaVale, although there may be some.

Sewage Problems

Del. Kelley asked the delegation if any thought had been given to solving the LaVale sewage problem by making use of Cumberland's treatment system.

W. D. Claus, a member of the sanitary commission, said that group has not, because of the scope. He added that the group might take action but not until people say they want it.

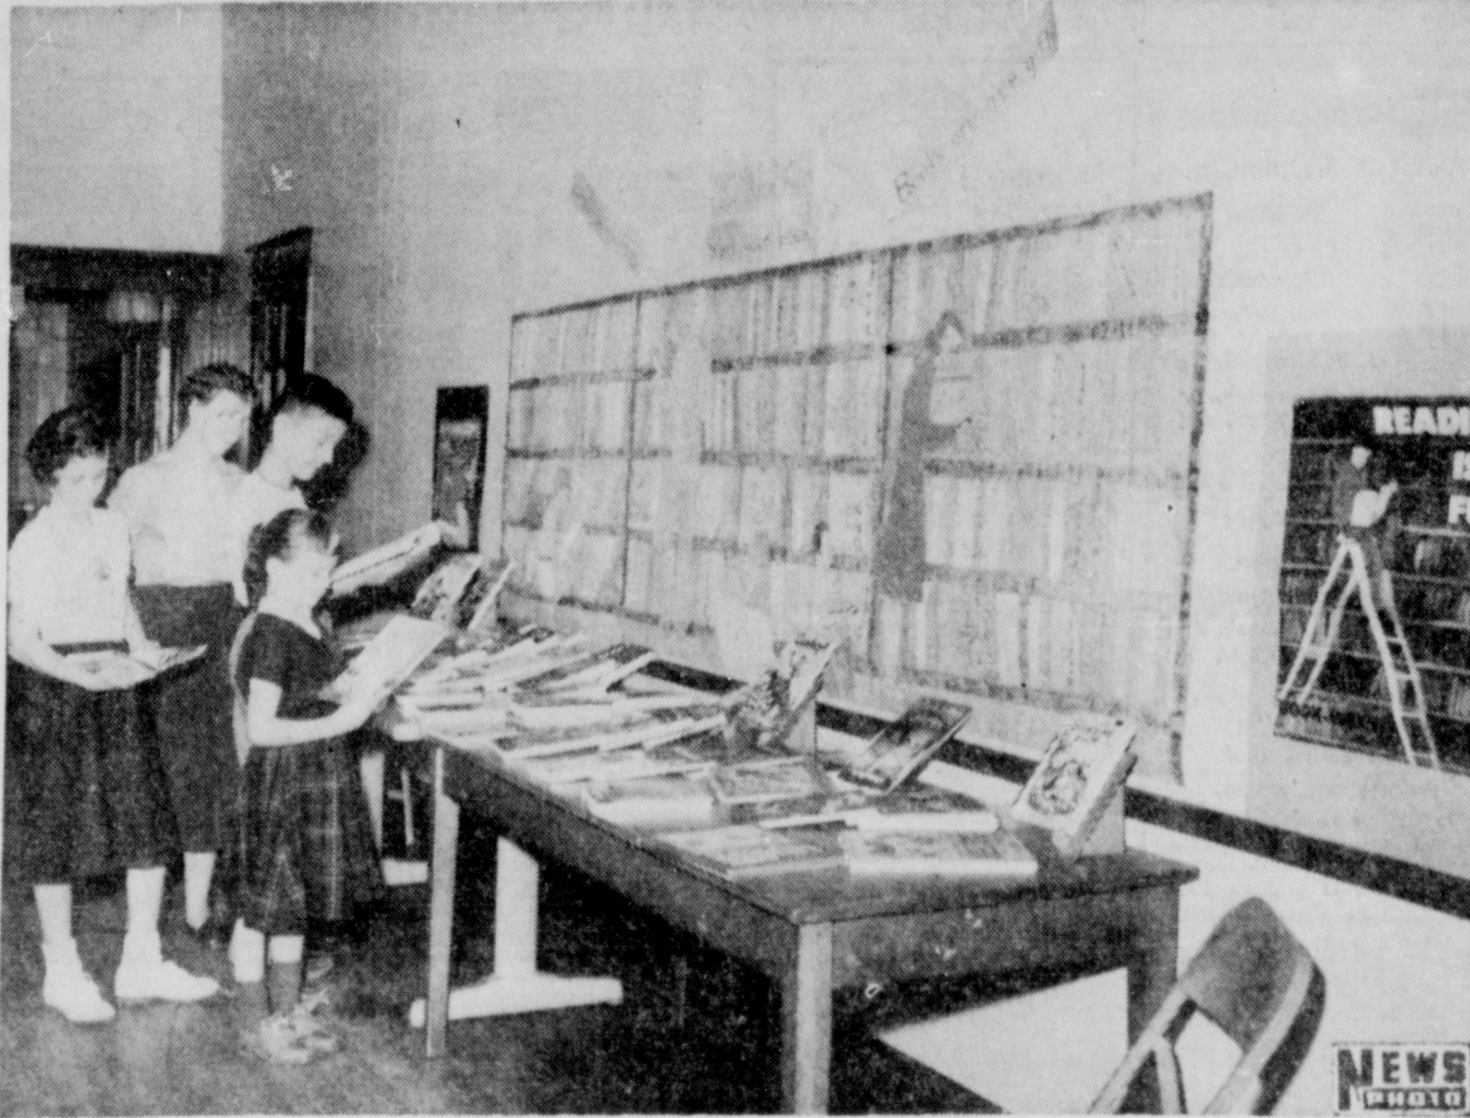

It was pointed out, in reply to a question by Sen. See, that the proposed law gives the people the right to go to court.

Morgan Speaks

Inclusion of all of District 29 was advocated by J. Kenneth Morgan, past chairman of the Improvement Association.

LaVale is not seeking a zoning plan which would last forever, Walter N. Hedrick, LCIA chair.

Gephart School Book Fair Features Education Week

As the feature of its observance of American Education Week, Gephart School on Frederick Street is emphasizing the obvious point that books and education go hand in hand.

Gephart School is featuring a Book Fair all this week, American Education Week.

All of the bulletin boards in the school corridors are covered with posters and slogans emphasizing the importance of books. Then on tables in the second floor corridors a number of highly recommended books are on display.

Mrs. Eleanor Porter Tennant, now in her first year as principal at Gephart School, said that orders are being taken from the children for books they would like to add to their own home libraries or give to their friends as Christmas gifts.

Mrs. Tennant explained that American Education Week and National Book Week are really supposed to be separate weeks in the special events calendars, but she thought this Education Week a most satisfactory time to emphasize good books and good reading habits.

Many parents are visiting Gephart School as they are visiting all other schools in Allegany County. They, too, get the idea that such substitutes as television are not replacements for good books.

Mrs. Tennant and her teachers are learning a good bit about the reading habits of their youngsters too this week. One little boy, for instance, took a particular liking to a book about a horse. He told Mrs. Tennant that books about horses are his first love.

To round out the week's activities, the Gephart School PTA is going to hear about "Good Books For Children" from a recognized authority, Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian of the Cumberland Free Public Library. The PTA meets at 7:30 p. m. Thursday.

School Official Visits County

Harry M. McDonald, formerly of Barton, supervisor of agriculture for the Maryland State Department of Education, paid a visit to Allegany County yesterday and conferred with county school officials.

Yesterday morning he visited Flintstone and Oldtown high schools and today expects to be in Garrett County where he will visit Northern and Southern high schools.

He visits this section of Western Maryland about twice a year.

South End Firemen Answer Two Alarms

The firemen got another call at 2:56 p. m. when the smoke continued to come out of the flue which was warm.

Radcliff To Face Larceny Charge

William Radcliff of Virginia Avenue will be tried in Trial Magistrate's Court today at 2:30 p. m. on charges of petit larceny, the State's Attorney said yesterday. The man is presently serving a five-day sentence in City Jail on a minor charge.

State Budget For 1957 May Set New Mark

Governor Predicts "Whopper" Then

SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 13 (AP)—Gov. McKeldin, admitting "there isn't much to tell yet" warned Maryland taxpayers tonight that the State budget for next year is going to be a whopper—the biggest one in history.

Furthermore, "I can assure you," McKeldin told the Salisbury Kiwanis Club, "that it will be bigger in each subsequent year so long as the State continues its healthy growth and so long as the State government continues to render its established services to the people and to keep abreast of modern developments."

He made no estimate of how much larger the budget will be. "There is a lot of cutting to be done — a lot of talking to be done with department heads he said."

The current budget for the fiscal 1957 which started last July 1, is $150,000,000 and fiscal experts have predicted the budget for fiscal 1958 will be 20 per cent higher. That would be $180,000,000.

The governor did mention a couple of items which would be higher and by how much. He said State aid to education will increase by about 7½ million next year to about 58 million, all of which he said is mandatory, a figure established by law which "neither the Legislature nor I can reduce."

He also said there will be increases in appropriations to the Tidewater Fisheries Commission, if the Legislature approves, of almost $30,000. Of this $30,000 would go for propagation of oysters.

The governor also said he would propose to the General Assembly that the appropriation to the pension fund for disabled firemen and their widows and children by increases from $25,000 to $37,500.

Church Plans Evening Mass

St. Anthony's Catholic Church of Ridgeley is making plans for a Sunday mass that will begin at 5 p. m. Rev. Robert J. Kilgannon, pastor, announced last night.

The new schedule will go into effect this Sunday. Father Kilgannon said the evening mass on first Fridays of the month and on holidays will be at 5:30 p. m.

Father Kilgannon said the special permission for the mass was granted by Most Rev. Peter L. Ireton, Bishop of the Richmond Va. Diocese. Only two other churches in the diocese are permitted to celebrate the late mass.

Special permission was also granted Father Kilgannon to celebrate three masses on Sundays. He conducts services at Paw Paw each Sunday in addition to the regular 8:15 a. m. mass at St. Anthony's.

Education Week Program Slated At Piney Plains

A special Visitation Day will be held at Piney Plains School today in conjunction with the observance of American Education Week.

At 1 p. m. an assembly program by the pupils will be held with each grade contributing a song, poem or dance learned this year.

The committee in charge includes Harold Scott, principal, J. Paul Andrick and Martha J. Andrick. Invitations have been extended to parents to visit the school this week.

On Monday evening the PTA met and a program of poetry, songs and dances were presented by the pupils of grades three, four, five and six.

ALBERT R. SHAFFER

Phone Manager Is Announced

Albert Richard Shaffer, 472 Williams Street, a central office repairman, has been named local telephone company manager in Lonaconing, according to Robert G. Garner, commercial manager for the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company in Cumberland.

A 1946 graduate of Fort Hill High School, Mr. Shaffer is 28 years old. His wife is Mrs. Shirley Jean Shaffer and they have four children.

The telephone company has not had a local manager for some years at Lonaconing. Since the establishment of the dial system in that community the office has been an unattended one.

Garner said that telephone service in the Lonaconing area has been growing steadily in recent years and it was decided the growth called for a local manager there.

Forest Fire Danger Is Stressed

A large number of forest fires fanned by high winds were reported burning this week in the southern portion of West Virginia although this section of Maryland and nearby West Virginia has been rather fortunate in not being plagued by such fires in recent days.

William H. Johnson, district forester, said yesterday that he urges all hunters to use caution and care in the woods and to make sure their lighted cigarettes and matches are out and camp fires extinguished before they leave the woods.

He said that since the first of July this year six forest fires have been reported in the district including three in neighboring Garrett County, two in Allegany County and one in eastern Washington county.

As the small game season opens on Thursday he is urging hunters to be a little more careful and commands them thus far for their cooperation.

Tilden Norris, forester of District 2 with headquarters in Romney, W. Va., pointed out last night that that section of West Virginia which embraces some eight counties, has been "plagued by forest fires."

However the woods are dry now and the fires stage is termed as critical. No forest fires have been reported in that district within the past four or five days.

He too is urging hunters to cooperate in keeping down fires.

Road Planer Is In Operation Here

The heater-planer equipment had its shakedown cruise yesterday on Long Hill.

Work began at noon after minor equipment repairs were made and a lubricating oil line replaced.

The equipment, which is to be used to smooth about 10 areas in the city, is operated by the Universal Road Planer Corporation.

City Rec Board Checks Possible Land Purchases

Kiwanis Camp Seen As Good Addition

The City Recreation Board last night explored possibilities of acquiring additional recreation areas at a meeting held in the Mayor's office in City Hall.

James Weber, chairman of the board, said the group is interested in a proposal which the board of directors of the Kiwanis Club of Cumberland has indicated it will submit for the recreation board to assume operation of Sunshine Camp on a year-round basis.

Weber said such a move would have to be made with the approval of the Kiwanis Club, which operates the camp one month out of the year, and the Mayor and City Council. The area has distinct possibilities for the city to develop it into an ideal recreation site, he said.

The board also reviewed plans for acquiring additional tracts of land for the city in other portions of the community. Two good areas for future recreation purposes have been checked, he stated, and the board hopes to be able to develop a concrete program within the next two weeks.

Not all the areas checked are good for ball games and other athletic events, Weber explained, but he did say that park areas, nature trails, picnic grounds and other recreation developments could be made at the sites in mind.

The board also explored the suggestion that least arrangements be made with the Board of Education for the use of fields belonging to the Board of Education by the recreation department.

Additional reports were made at the meeting and a review of the work by Eugene Mason, assistant rec director, was made.

Gray Ladies Name Leader

A chairman for the Gray Ladies project in local hospitals was named at the second meeting of the newly organized group yesterday in the offices of the Allegany County Chapter American Red Cross. The local Red Cross chapter is sponsoring the program.

Mrs. Donald Moffatt has been selected to head the Gray Ladies program, Mrs. George Legge, executive secretary of the Red Cross chapter said last night.

Arrangements also were made at yesterday's meeting for orientation tours to be made by the Gray Ladies at the local hospitals.

Sacred Heart Hospital will be visited Thursday at 1:30 p. m. with Mrs. Harold Peck in charge of the group. The ladies will visit Memorial Hospital next Tuesday at 3 p. m. with Mrs. Moffatt being in charge of the group.

The ladies organization will write letters, take books and magazines, visit and talk with patients in the hospitals in a program to make the patients more comfortable during their hospital confinement.

County Teachers Publish Newsletter

The Allegany County Teachers Association yesterday issued its first number of a newsletter.

It is an eight-page printed booklet, announcing items of interest to teachers, planned activities and names of officers and committee members of the association.

Mrs. Patricia Wilson of Cresaptown School is the editor and is assisted by an editorial committee including Miss Betsy Ross Rankin, Miss Claire Livesay and Miss Mary E. Reed.

According to Edward Meconi, president, the association plans to publish the newsletter four times during the year, with the next issue to come out just before the Christmas holidays.

New Biography Of Shaw Among Library Volumes

Several new books are now available at the Cumberland Free Public Library including "Bernard Shaw—His Life, Work and Friends," a recent addition to the library's biography collection.

This vivid account of the fabulous playwright is the work of St. John Ervine, a distinguished dramatist and long time friend of Shaw. This is an important book, probably the definitive biography of "G.B.S."

Another biography on a very different theme is "Young Men So Daring," by Vera Kelsy. This is an account of the fur traders who carried the American frontier west. It contains the biographies of four daring young men — Peter Pond, Connecticut Yankee; Manuel Lisa, New Orleans Spaniard; John Jacob Astor, German immigrant, and the Virginian, Jim Bridger.

All ages will enjoy this title—"Spirit of the Wild," by William J. Long is a collection of unusual nature adventures.

Tub In The Treetop

Can you imagine trying to take a Saturday evening bath in a tub which is in such a precarious position as the one shown above? In an effort to lower the tub by rope from the old Roman property on Washington Street, apparently for salvage purposes, the tub got wedged in a tree alongside the second story window. What with a little rain it should make an ideal king size bird bath.
